Children Around the World Need Your Help

Hunger knows no boundaries. Its effects are seen around the world and 1 in 9 children struggle to find the food needed to survive every day. Throughout developing countries, hunger is driven by a lack of resources, conflict, corruption, natural disasters and many other factors that have caused a global concern. Here in the U.S. the number one contributor to hunger is the rising cost of living. Although children around the world need your help, thankfully in 2018 you responded in a major way.

OUR MISSION

ACTIVATING
PEOPLE FOR A
HUNGER-FREE WORLD

From humble beginnings around a dining room table 8 years ago, together we have turned compassion for the hungry into a global movement. Working alongside our generous partners, we are making an impact in the fight against hunger.

A large group of volunteers, mostly wearing white t-shirts, are working together to package food. They are seen from behind or in profile, focused on their task. The scene is brightly lit, and the overall atmosphere is one of busy, organized activity.

In 2018 alone, 83,242 volunteers packaged meals at 342 Hunger Projects for hungry children and families that need it most.

15,952,172

With your help, we have visited communities filled with despair and hopelessness and watched as the faces of hunger have turned into faces of hope because of your commitment to doing something that matters.

We seek out partnerships with organizations that are already making a difference through long-term solutions. That strategy has helped us put more donor funds to work in areas that greatly expand impact. This Food+ strategy is aimed at solving hunger while supporting education for girls, women's health, economic development, orphan care and creating a culture of self-sufficiency.

WHO YOU'RE HELPING

19,520

South Sudanese Refugees

The South Sudanese make up 1.4 million of the world's refugees and they are fleeing to settlements like Northern Uganda. Over the last 8 years, South Sudan has been ravaged by civil conflict and famine. Last year, the U.N. declared South Sudan in an official state of famine. In a country where hope is hard to find, you helped send life-saving meals to 19,520 refugees, (15,616 of which were children), build a brighter and stronger future.

38,000

Meals for Orphans in Haiti

Between the difficult terrain, lack of agricultural programs and vulnerability to natural disasters, the people of Haiti have the odds stacked against them. Partnering with Love a Child, our Hunger Heroes distributed 38,000 meals to an orphanage in Haiti. These boxes of food came with inspiring messages of hope and pure joy, lifting the spirits of all those who received them.

YOUR SUPPORT

15,000

Meals to Venezuelan Community

Venezuela is currently struggling with a country-wide crisis. The economic and political issues have taken a huge toll on the people, making food supply scarce for a majority of the country. A hometown Hunger Hero partnered with FCE to do whatever it took to help save lives of children in Venezuela. Because of this effort, they were able to provide aid to children who need it most through 15,000 meals for the hardest hit areas.

Hunger in the United States

The world can produce enough food to feed every person on earth, yet 40 million Americans are still left to skip meals, eat less at meals, buy cheap non-nutritious food or even feed their children but not themselves. In a country as prosperous as the United States, hard-working individuals and families still find it difficult to put food on the table because the already high cost of living continues to rise. This is an everyday struggle for those living at 200% of the poverty level and below.

An Innovative New Program to Fight
Hunger in America!

WHY FULL CART?

We have a crisis in the United States that gets worse every year. In all areas of life, costs are going up at historic rates. Healthcare, education, housing, and food are all climbing, but wages are fairly stagnant. When money's tight and food prices continue to rise, families are faced with tough choices for putting hot meals on the table for their children.

SOMETHING HAS TO BE DONE TO HELP...

WHAT IS FULL CART?

That's why, with your help, we launched Full Cart, a grocery delivery service for hard-working individuals and families looking for a way to extend their budget. For pennies on the dollar, anyone in the United States can order a package of delicious meal kits and popular grocery items delivered to their front door. All they pay is the cost of shipping. This social innovation is radically changing the way hunger issues are solved in America.

SELF-SUFFICIENCY

Creating a small business from the ground up and improving business skills are reliable ways to foster financial independence and self-sufficiency; two pivotal factors in ending hunger.

Bee Bee, for example, was displaced by Hurricane Irma after her roof caved in and she found herself struggling to find a direction. She was forced to move from place to place while trying to rebuild her life. After going through our entrepreneur training class, Bee Bee is back in her home and her cleaning service is now a thriving business in Seminole County.

BIG MOVES FOR A SMALL BUSINESS!

JOSIE'S STORY

Josie is a single mother of three who works full-time while earning a degree to be a nurse - there's no doubt that she works hard. Traditional food pantries often have odd hours that don't line up with people who are trying to make a living. Because Full Cart delivers food directly to those who need it, Josie doesn't have to take time off work to go to a food pantry before they close. When Josie looks to the future, she sees her family doing better and not struggling to pay the bills.

“IT WAS LIKE TREASURE IN A BOX”

PEGGY'S STORY

Because of her personal experience in the foster care system when she was younger, Peggy understood the needs of those facing food insecurity. She decided to start an “online food pantry” group on Facebook to help give back to those in need, but the impact was limited due to costs and shipping restrictions. Then Peggy found Full Cart. “Before discovering Full Cart, I could only help 50% of people who asked for assistance. [Now], we’ve turned that number to 100%.” Peggy’s group can now send groceries across the United States directly to those who need them most.
